Madison, Wisconsin,

Thank you so much for your literature which I have received.
I was much impressed with the method for isolation of auxotrophic mutants had already systematized. Also I read the other reports with much interest.

In our country, the problems of microbial genetics have never been investigated excepting the higher forms. I wish to study these area with great interest.

I have so short in an experience as I have a number of nutritionally deficient mutants of Escherichia coli at present.

Please continue your favors toward me.

Sincerely yours,

Hideo Nakayama
